SPRING CREEK HUNT
Sunday's fox and owl hunt staged by the Spring Creek Sportsmen's Club was termed a success as the event netted two foxes and a gray horned owl. The morning hunt was centered in the area between Spring Creek and West Spring Creek and one fox and an owl were bagged on Jackson Hill. In the afternoon another hunt was started and a fox was killed near Hyde's Pond. At noon a sportsmen's stew with all the trimmings was served to nearly 50 men at the West Spring Creek Grange Hall. Serving on the dinner committee were Leslie Bulard, Cliff Clark and Harold Paulson. Henry Jaguth's two fox hounds were used for the hunt. Announcement was also made that another hunt will be held on February 6th.

KILLED AT ERIE
Erie County Coroner W. W. Wood Monday had not yet completed the investigation into the death of a six-year-old Hammett child who was killed by a Corry woman's automobile Saturday afternoon. The victim was Francis Holman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holman, Erie, RD 7, Wattsburg road. The youngster died in St. Vincent's Hospital at Erie at 2 p. m. Saturday of a broken spine, an hour and a half after he had been hit by a car driven by Mrs. Cecil Miller, Corry, RD 5. Mrs. Miller, who was driving north on Route 8 towards Erie, told investigating officers from Lawrence Park State Police barracks that the child dashed onto the highway and directly into the path of her car. State Police said there were no known witnesses to the mishap.

TRIP TO COAST FUTURE
Sheriff and Mrs. J. Floyd Van Winkle, of Crawford county, who went to St. Luis Obispo, California, recently to get a woman prisoner, were back in Crawford county Monday without her. Mrs. Luella Hartzell, New Castle, wanted on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, was about to board an eastbound train with the Van Winkles when word came that the charge against her had been withdrawn. Attorney Stuart A. Culbertson of Meadville, administrator of the estate of Charles Hans late of East Fairfield township, who brought the charge, said he agreed to accept payment and costs to settle the matter. The charge then was withdrawn. It has been alleged that Mrs. Hartzell drove a car belonging to the estate from Crawford county to California and sold it, keeping the money. Mrs. Hartzell contested extradition but the necessary papers were issued by the California authorities.

NOT PLANNING OUT
Titusville Herald: Titusville citizens were assured yesterday by Pennsylvania Railroad officials that the company has no intention of removing the passenger trains between Oil City and Corry, even though it plans to discontinue the train between Corry and Buffalo. The fear of becoming a "freight service only" city was openly and frequently expressed at a meeting of officials and members of the Chamber of Commerce and city government and W. O. Teufel, General Superintendent, and N. M. Lawrence, Superintendent of the Buffalo Division. The meeting with the railroad officials was arranged by the Chamber in an effort to have the railroad reconsider its plan in removing the portion of the present Oil City-Buffalo passenger service north of Corry. The officials said that no date for the curtailment has been set, but the Chamber would be notified of the exact date in order that it may take the matter up with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

NEW ASIATIC BLOC

DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press foreign affairs analyst

A century hence historians will, I suspect, remark with the wisdom of hindsight that in the month of January '49, Asia produced two events which changed the course of world affairs.

The reference, of course, is (1) To the collapse of Nationalist China before the Red rebellion, and (2) To the birth of an Association of Oriental Nations under leadership of India.

Viewing these developments at close range it looks as though the two may be the fuel which will heat the melting-pot of Asiatic destiny. And that's a matter of vast concern to the western world.

Take the case of China with a population which is close to a quarter that of the whole world: Its Nationalist government, which had been accorded the ranking of world power and was one of the Big Five, has collapsed. Chinese Communism, which is working hand and glove with Moscow, seems about to take over control.

Whether the Red ism can overrun and dominate all China remains to be seen. It's a titanic task. Communist success would mean that China had become a Russian base from which to conduct the Bolshevik revolution in the rest of Asia.

There could be no greater menace to world peace—no greater challenge to the western democracies.

By a curious twist of fate we have the coincidence of the parley of Asiatic countries in New Delhi. Fifteen nations attended this meeting at the invitation of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of the Dominion of India, and four other states sent observers.

Thus was born an Asiatic bloc under leadership of India. The guiding spirit in this move is Nehru, one of the world's great personalities who bids fair to become the dominant figure in Asia.

This bloc comprises nations representing more than half the population of the globe. Where is it going to stand as regards the Communist world revolution? What will be its attitude towards Russian domination of China?

Here again we are dealing with a question which only time can answer. However, I believe there are grounds for hope that this bloc will work with the western world—provided that the western world will let it.

The primary purpose of the association formed in New Delhi is to work for the elimination of imperialism from the Orient. Nehru has served notice that the days of colonization by western powers in the Far East are drawing to a close. Britain, France, The Netherlands—all the imperial powers must get out. Specifically the Delhi conference was concerned with ousting the Dutch from Indonesia.

And what is to replace the rule of the overlords? The answer to that is absolute independence and nationalism.

The Asiatic peoples are Nationalist minded, and therein lies the hope of the western world, as I see it.

The Asiatic bloc either is going to join hands with the Communists or is going to fight them. There can be no half way business with Communism, as the western world has found to its cost.

But Communism is the antithesis of Nationalism. Nations which embrace the Red ism abandon sovereignty and take their orders from Moscow. The satellites of eastern Europe are a prime example. All of them are tied to Russia, excepting Yugoslavia which kicked over the traces. The Yugoslavs rebelled against Moscow authority because they are Nationalists at heart.

So it strikes me that if the whole western world subscribes to the principle of self-determination for all nations we shall have the Asiatic bloc with us in the fight against Communism. If the bloc should swing into the Red camp—then heaven help us.

The American Federation of Radio Artists has agreed that when the announcer is called upon to cough into a microphone he ceases being just an announcer and becomes an actor, and should be paid accordingly. We hope the idea doesn't spread. Play producers are having it tough enough these days without the added threat that they may have to pay Actors Equity scale to all barking members of the average theater audience.

A furniture designer has made some armchairs and center tables with wheels "so they may be moved up to the television set." Remembering some video programs we've seen we should like to be assured, before buying, that the armchairs can also be moved away from the set

That's More Like It

Here And There

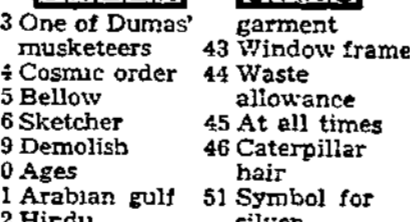

Fifty years ago today, the Evening Mirror carried the following interesting article regarding one of our oldest and best known industries: At the annual meeting of the Warren Axe & Tool Co., Wednesday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Secretary, J. N. Craft; treasurer, E. H. Beshlin; directors, Wm. Muir, J. N. Craft, J. D. Woodard, H. A. Messenger, W. S. Leffard, E. E. Allen and E. H. Beshlin. The works have been closed down for some time owing to a misunderstanding among the directors, but the indications are that this will soon be adjusted and that operations will be renewed.

This And That: With State Deputy Dr. Daniel F. Nolan, of Latrobe, and State Secretary Frank J. Maloney, of Scranton, as special guests, the Warren Council Knights of Columbus are planning for next Sunday one of the largest and most interesting breakfasts yet attempted by this organization, since the members will be accompanied by their ladies. . . . Wild game in the Phillipsburg area has required practically no human help to procure sufficient food so far this winter, but the Aero Game Feeding Club expects the situation to demand feeding any time now and has expanded its preparations accordingly. . . . According to the Titusville Herald an over-all glance around the Penn-Drake refinery and the picture can be simmered down to one word—stick. Almost everywhere there are piles of pipe, all sizes, all lengths, either waiting to be sold or trucked to the parent plant in Kansas City. Virtually all overhead steam and fuel lines have been taken down and those on the ground or buried have been taken up. . . . Those wooden horses near the rear entrance to the police department at the municipal building were probably constructed in preparation for barricading streets, if and when, sufficient snow fails to make coasting possible. . . . See where Sen. Fred P. Hare, Jr., Republican of Somerset, has introduced a bill in the state senate to boost the fees for hunting and trapping licenses in Pennsylvania. The plan would increase the combination resident hunting and trapping license from $2.00 to $3.65 a year. Non-resident privileges would go up from $15 to $25. The increase has been advocated by the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. . . . Things are still tight on Route 6, according to the Kane Republican. Blasting isn't as consistent as it was for a while, but occasionally you can hear a series of blasts. "These blasts are supervised—not like the pranks in Warren who fired off dynamite just for fun." Just how long the blasting is due on Route 6 isn't quite clear but there will be plenty more of it on the Ludlow end be around the Penn-Drake refinery (Turn to Page Five)

Federal Rent Law Further Interpreted

Rights and obligations of landlords and tenants under the federal rent law continue to occupy much interest, according to Area Rent Director Frank S. Anderson of the Erie office.

"We endeavor to keep the public posted on all phases of rent control under our jurisdiction," Mr. Anderson said, "but we find it necessary from time to time to repeat explanations and often emphasize procedure for the benefit of landlords and tenants."

"Many changes have been instituted through amendments and procedural action since the law went into effect," Mr. Anderson explained. "Among these was the landlord's right to obtain a 15 percent increase under voluntary lease agreement. Housing units for which voluntary leases expired on December 31, 1948, and were not extended, are now back under rent control. In such cases the landlord may now apply for adjustments in rent under the grounds which exist. At the same time tenants have the right to apply for a reduction in rent for failure on the part of the landlord to render the services to which the tenant is entitled."

"New procedures have been introduced streamlining operations. The short form designed for owners of dwellings of four units or less affording relief under hardships has facilitated action on these claims. Additional opportunities for assistance to landlords have been affected through amendments and modification of operations."

"Tenants who occupy accommodations under federal rent control have a right to know what maximum legal rent the landlord is entitled to charge and what services they are entitled to receive. They may obtain such information from the registration statement which is required to be on file with the Office of the Housing Expediter at the local office address. A practical suggestion for all concerned to follow," Mr. Anderson reminded is, "when in doubt consult the area rent office."

WHEEL DERAILMENT

Work was disrupted at the Rogers Structural Steel Co. plant at Corry Monday afternoon when one wheel of the Pennsylvania Railroad switch engine jumped the tracks. In attempting to re-track the engine the locomotive filled the plant with smoke, forcing workmen to suspend operations. Further trouble developed when sparks and smoke flying from the engine's stack sent enough heat billowing toward the roof of the building to touch off the sprinkler system. The engine was back on the tracks within an hour without calling in wrecking equipment.

fore the job is completed. . . Monday the statement was made in this column that the "political pot is sizzling." Now we can report it is boiling. Miss Ethel B. Baldensperger, bookkeeper for twelve years in the office of the borough tax collector, and notary public, has announced that she will be a candidate for tax collector, subject to the decision of voters in the Republican primary, and is already actively campaigning. . . Incidentally, it is expected the state legislature in the very near future will decide the date for the spring primary with many anticipating that it will be moved up to June because of the soldier vote.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop! Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit and establish your natural bowers of regularity. Digit—three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you. Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, take 5 Carter's Pills for 5 days. Second week—only 4 pills. Third week—only 3 pills. Then—nothing! Every day, drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit. How can laxatives break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural power. Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs. Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pills . . . and be regular naturally. When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 35c today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

HER SECRET STAR

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 2

THE train was pulling into the station now. Meanwhile the conductor was shouting, in the same unintelligible voice with which he announced all stations, something that sounded vaguely like "Harrumph—Carrolton."

As she came down the steps she paused briefly to peer at the sign on the side of the little red brick depot. It was waving violently in the wind and almost obscured by the rain, but she managed to make out the word "Carrolton," and was reassured. She paid no attention to the scroll-like "N" in front of the name, for she had yet to learn that almost every village in southeastern Massachusetts has its "North," "South," "Center," and "Four-Corners"—all miles apart.

Betty stood on the rain-drenched platform for what seemed an interminable time, scanning every face. There were only a few people—none who looked even remotely like David Warren. Finally when everyone had gone and she was alone on the platform, she was forced to admit that no one had come to meet her.

She was alone. No one had come to meet her.

THE waiting room was deserted, save for a slicker-clad man who stood with his back turned, juggling a cigarette machine. She walked past him to the ticket window and stood watching the station-master, who was busily clicking a telegraph instrument and did not look up. There was a slight gap to her voice when she called to him.

"I'd like a ticket, please—if you don't mind too much."

"Where to?"

"New York." She could be just as economical with words as he was, Betty decided.

He stared at her sharply, but made no effort to produce a ticket. "No more trains till tomorrow, Miss," he informed her, and started to oul down the window.

"Oh," exclaimed Betty, unable to conceal her dismay. She had counted on this. There was nothing to do now but get a taxi and go to a hotel for the night.

"I'll then I'll take a taxi, if you'll tell me where I can get one."

She smiled at the station-master now, "regretting her rudeness of a moment before."

He did not smile back at her. Instead, his black eyes twinkled with suspicion. "All the way to New York? Seems to me Anyhow, I doubt if you could get a taxi to come over on a day like this. Me—I wouldn't want to chance it. Worst hurricane we've had in years."

"I would get off at the wrong station," she rushed, "when I wanted so much to conform. They're waiting for me. I wired Uncle Dave I'd be there on this very train."

She stopped, suddenly aware that someone had stepped up behind her. And a voice—a rather pleasant voice—was saying: "You can wipe off the tears Cinderella. You're being rescued. Train or no train, you're practically in Carrolton right now."

Betty turned quickly and found herself looking up into the friendliest blue eyes she had ever seen. They belonged to the man in the slicker and floppy storm hat who had been juggling the cigarette machine. She was surprised to see that he was a young man, and quite handsome in a devil-may-care sort of way. There was a quick look of eyebrows that indicated he might be teasing, but his smile was warm and blithesome.

"Mr. Jack Barnes, I live in Carrolton," he said, laughing a little. "I'll run you over—though I can't figure out why anybody in his right mind would be wanting to go there. Me—I was born there. Been trying to get out ever since."

His grin, however, was reassuring, and so were his words to the station-master, whom he seemed to know. "I've got my car outside. Steve, and I'll take over from here," he said, picking up Betty's traveling bag. "I'll get her home in no time at all."

The older man muttered something that did not sound at all complimentary, then spoke to the girl who had turned to say goodbye.

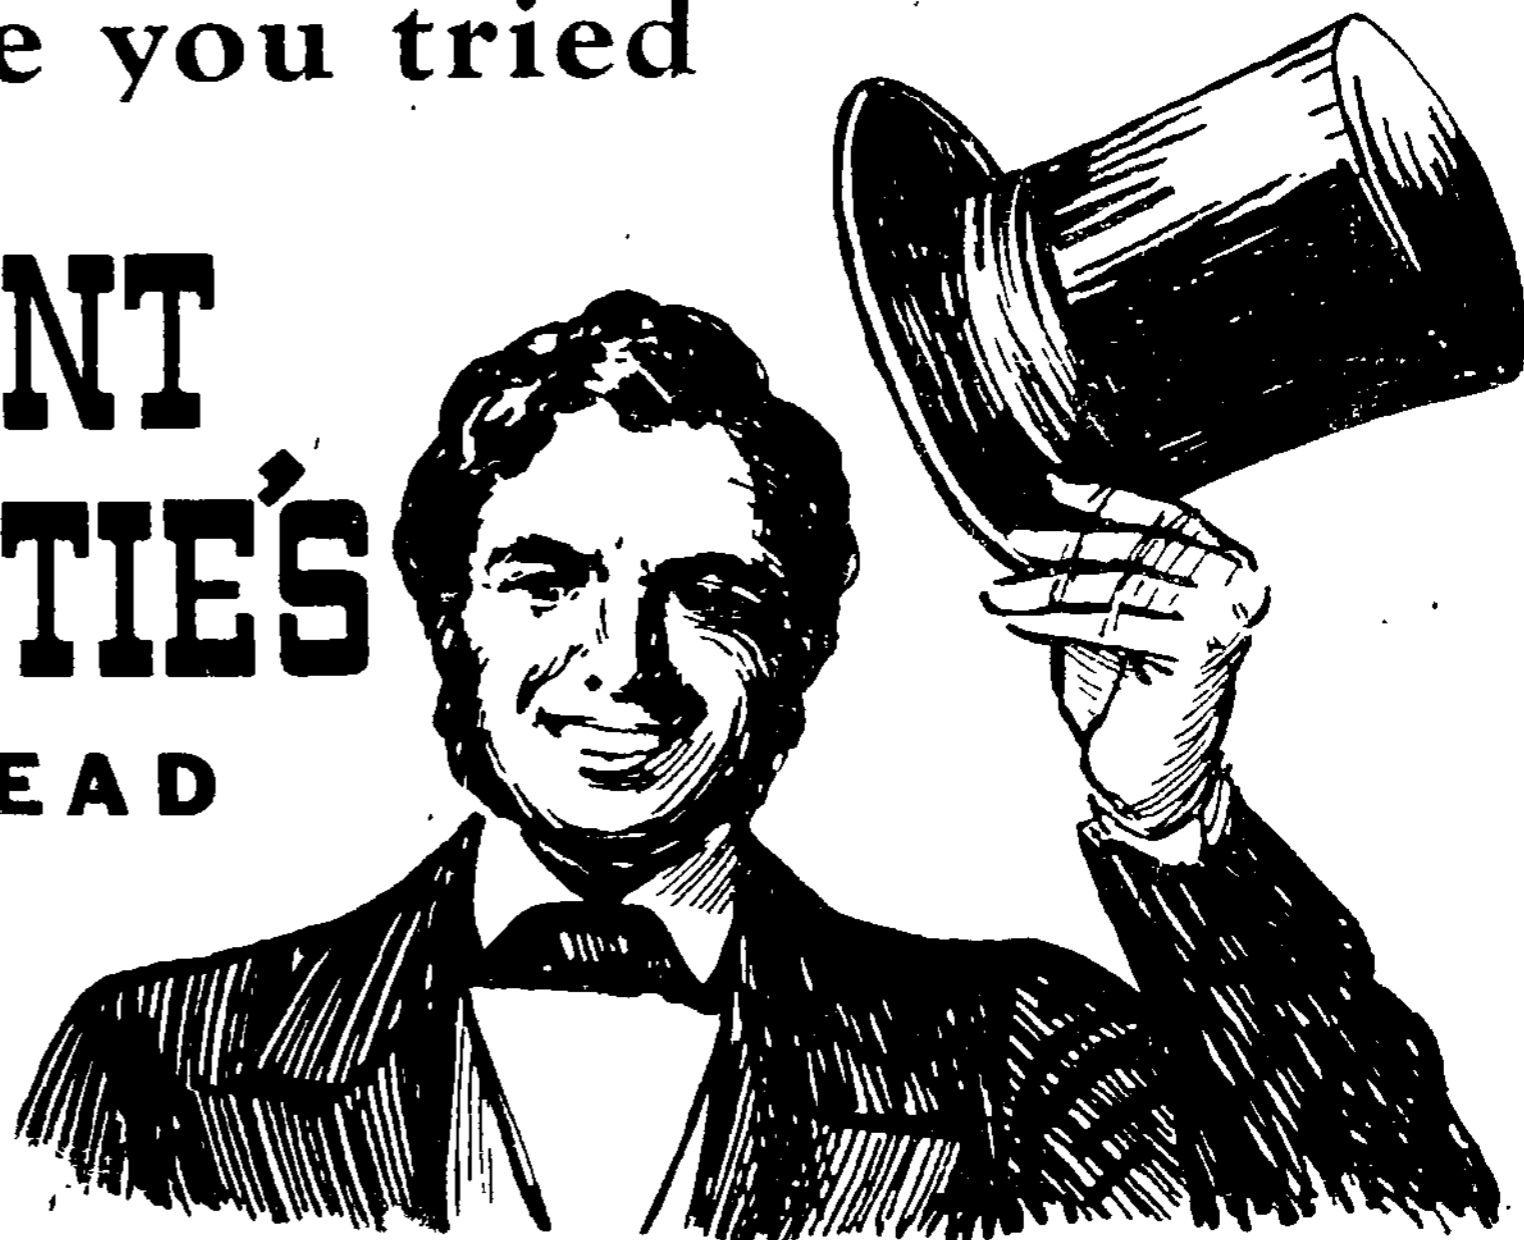

"It's a chance I wouldn't advise you to take, Miss. I've told her through like red hot iron with disapproval. I'm telling you there's a hurricane on the way. Matter of fact, it's already here. Got no business racing with trains any more, endangering other people's lives."

Betty had a vague feeling that he was warning her not against the approaching hurricane or the dangers of speeding, but against the red-headed young man. But she brushed it aside, smiled a bright good-bye, which the station-master did not acknowledge and followed Jack Barnes out of the waiting room.

No Decision About Trains At Oil City

Oil City Derrick. No indication of a satisfactory decision regarding suggested continuance of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. trains between Oil City and Buzalo, N. Y., was given by representatives of the P. E. R. at meetings of the local and Titusville Chambers of Commerce Tuesday.

According to officials of the local chamber, W. O. Tush, general superintendent, and N. J. Lawrence, superintendent of the Buffalo division, met with representatives of the Oil City Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon following a similar meeting with Titusville chamber officials.

The railroad officials stated the two trains may be taken off due to lack of revenue obtained from these trips. The officials of the two cities asked the P. E. Warren Lodge of Elks Will Participate In Essay Contest

Two thousand dollars in prizes will be awarded to high school students who write the best essays on the subject "Why Democracy Works," in a nation-wide contest sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Ruel B. Smith, exalted ruler of Warren Lodge, No. 223, has announced.

The Warren Lodge will award prizes totaling $130 for the best essays entered in this area and the State Elks Association is offering $375 to winners of the state competition, in addition to the national prizes, Mr. Smith said.

The awards to be made follow: National: (All prizes in U. S. government savings bonds, at maturity value.)

First prize, $1,000; second prize, $500; third prize, $250; and five prizes of $50 each.

State: First prize, $200; second prize, $100; third prize, $50; teacher of student winning first prize, $25.

Local: First prize, $50; second prize, $30; third prize, $20; fourth prize, $10, and four awards of $5.00 each.

George I. Hall of Lynbrook, N. Y., grand exalted ruler of the Elks, advised Mr. Heyson that any student in the ninth to twelfth grades, inclusive, of any public parochial or private school is invited to enter the contest.

America's 950,000 Elks are sponsoring this contest to encourage our youth to study democracy in practical operation, and to discover for themselves the freedom, justice and the democratic concept of dignity of the individual have made it possible for our nation to prosper and develop in the field of human activity. Mr. Heyson stated, "Foes of democracy are working hard, and sometimes successfully, to turn young people away from their heritage of liberty to communism and other totalitarian philosophies. We don't think they will get very far if our youth know the facts."

Essays must be not less than 300 words and not more than 750 words in length, written in the contestant's own handwriting, and must be his or her own, original work. Essays must be submitted to the secretary of the Elks lodge nearest the student's home on or before next March 1. Complete rules and other details of the contest may be obtained at any Elks lodge.

The best essay submitted to the Warren Lodge of Elks will be entered in the state contest, and the winner there will be entered in the national competition. National awards will be made in June.

All county high schools as well as the Warren borough school are eligible to participate. County schools participating, with their principals are as follows: Tidouque, Carl W. Johnson; Sheffield, L. O. Eisenhauer; Sugar Grove, Everett Landin; Youngsville, Paul Getts.

Exalted Ruler Smith has appointed James Springer as chairman of the Warren lodge committee in charge of the contest in this area.

Ford Tractor Dealers Urged To Expand Advertising Plans

Ford Tractor dealers today were urged to expand their local newspaper, radio and billboard advertising in 1949.

Seventy Ford Tractor dealers are attending a special 1949 sales and advertising meeting, sponsored by Triad Tractor & Implement Corporation, Utica, New York.

Outlining plans for 1949 advertising, O. L. Wigton, Eastern Sales Manager from Dearborn Motors Corporation, Detroit, said, "National advertising on the Ford Tractor and Dearborn Farm Equipment will be increased in 1949, but to make this effective, consistent and expanded, local advertising must be used by every dealer. 'Local advertising is the most effective medium to establish your dealerships as a good place to do business, as headquarters for Ford Tractors and Dearborn Farm Equipment.'"

"Increased emphasis must be given to service if you are to maintain your leadership," O. L. Wigton declared. Among the programs announced at the meeting was an owners-service program, providing for a "service shop on wheels" for each Ford Tractor dealer to give on-the-farm tractor and implement service.

Today's meeting is one of a series of 33 in principal cities across the nation for Ford Tractor dealers, their department heads and salesmen, a total of more than 12,000 people.

At the luncheon, Mr. C. J. Fletcher, President of Triad, will introduce Mr. William L. Burnas of Coral Gables, Florida, an outstanding and nationally known speaker, who will address the group on "Selling our line in '49'."

The committee in charge of arrangements of the program, employees of Triad Tractor & Implement Corporation, is as follows:

B. W. Morrison, General Manager; F. E. Mazura, Sales Manager; Charles M. Sitts, Parts Manager; Herman L. Keller, Service Manager; and the following District Supervisors: Lawrence Romance, Gerald E. Maloney, Eugene Lamb, Henry Wrubel, and James Smith.

Messrs. Morris O'Neill and Edward Walker of Agricultural Equipment Co., Warren, are attending this meeting.

400 Appointments To Be Confirmed

Harrisburg, Jan. 26-(P)-The Republican-controlled state senate moved today to confirm more than 400 appointments made by Gov. James H. Duff in the first half of his administration.

With one vote more than is necessary for confirmation, GOP leaders looked for prompt action on the long list of officials submitted to it for ratification. By Duff at the start of the 1949 session.

The senate nominations committee cleared the way for floor action yesterday.

Sen. John W. Lord, Jr. (R-Phila) committee chairman, recommended approval of the re-appointment of Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, and Charles French, state fish commissioner, along with scores of members of state boards and commissions.

Among the appointments were hundreds of members of county boards of assistance, trustees of state hospitals and state teachers colleges.

Market Quotations

New York, Jan. 26-(P)-U. S. Steel Corp. common stock hit the ticker tape 35 minutes after the opening of the market today with a jump of 3 3/4 points. A sale of 15,000 shares was made at 76 1/4. A flood of buy orders, and relatively few orders to sell, caused the delay. Strong demand also developed for other steels. Gains running to around 2 points were posted for Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Bethlehem Steel, Republic, Wheeling, National, and Jones & Laughlin. The widest gains were not fully maintained, including U. S. Steel. The balance of the market started to move ahead but didn't get very far. Advances ranging to around a point were soon shaded and some key issues were forced into lower price territory.

OLDEST WOMAN IN PA. 111 YEARS OLD TODAY

Hazleton, Jan. 26-(P)-Mrs. Mary O'Neill, the little old lady of "Stone Crusher Hill," celebrated her 111th birthday today with one regret-she can't thread a needle any more.

Mrs. O'Neill,

Dealers Visit Preview Of Pontiac Cars

Prod Weigle and R. J. Weigle of the Weigle Motor Sales have returned after attending a dealers' preview of the new 1949 Pontiac Silver Streaks in Buffalo, N. Y.

Following the meeting, veteran Pontiac factory officials said that the enthusiasm of dealers for the new cars here and elsewhere where similar meetings are being held, is greater than for any other new model Pontiac has ever produced. Dealers clapped, whistled and cheered when the curtains went up on the new Silver Streaks.

More than 160 dealers from this area saw the new cars for the first time and attended a day-long meeting conducted by Mr. E. J. Chapman, Regional Manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

Using elaborate slides, stage props, movies and skits department heads from Central Office presented the latest dealer programs covering merchandising of parts, accessories, service and used cars. Presentations were also made on local advertising, promotion and customer good-will.

Mr. Chapman revealed to dealers that the 1949 Pontiac Silver Streak features two completely new and distinct lines of cars. Entirely new to Pontiac is the Chief line, which is functional in design, and of the notch or bubble-back type.

Its companion is the new Streamliner Sedan, an up-to-date version of the fast or fast back type coupe popular by Pontiac. Both body styles are mounted on a 120-inch wheel base. The former Torpedo Series has been discontinued.

Pontiac will make 10 body styles for 1949 and with the exception of the convertible (Deluxe only) and the swank new sedan delivery (Standard only), all will be available with either standard or deluxe equipment.

Pontiac production for 1948 totaled 245,500 cars, the division's third best year. Mr. Chapman said he expected 1949 production to exceed this figure, but was unable to estimate the percentage of increase.

Letters to the Editor

January 23, 1949
The Editor Times-Mirror
Warren, Pa.

Not more than a week ago one of our older business men told us with a reminiscent gleam in his eye a story of setting off nitroglycerine cans when he was a lad. The cans had been abandoned by "well shooters", but he stated that it was just "for fun", a phrase which was echoed by the two young men apprehended in the recent dynamite shooting. One of the differences between the case of this highly respected business man and the more modern counterparts is that they stole the dynamite, but he merely found the cans where the shooters had left them.

Without trying to detract from the seriousness of their actions, the punishment of the young men and the rights of the wrong are serious matters for consideration. Suppose this older man of whom we speak had come across a box of dynamite. Enjoying the thrill of an explosion, wouldn't he have been tempted to take some or all of this dynamite and set it off? And he is no exception to the rule.

All of us, almost without exception, have made errors of judgment when he were young and have committed acts that might have had most serious results. If this presently valuable member of society had been caught in the act of setting off glycerine cans or dynamite and given a prison term, it is highly improbable that he would now hold his present position in the community. He would have had to be a most exceptionally strong-willed man not to turn out a hardened criminal and a menace to society, costing us all money to support him in a public institution rather than helping us financially and spiritually.

It happens so many times that it is to be expected, that when a boy or young man is sent to one of our correctional institutions such as Morgantown or to the State Penitentiary, he comes in contact with the worst group of individuals at a time when he should be in contact with our best. He learns the philosophy and methods of the hardened criminals and when he leaves the institution he is well on his way to becoming a public problem for the rest of his life.

Churchill and Hansen must be taught that what they did was wrong and others must learn this lesson from their example, but must it be at the cost of ruining their lives, their parents' lives and making them public menaces? It is to be hoped that the judge in his wisdom can find a way out of this problem. Is it parole? Isn't there some place where they can begin life again, with at least a fair chance of success?
